

ALL ABOUT RENT BILL

G. W. Smith Lands at the Police Station.

SERGEANT WANTED TO LEVY

Tenant Became Obstreperous. It is Alleged, and Had to be Taken in Custody on Charge of Interfering With an Officer.

Charging with interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duty, G. W. Smith, of 229 Twenty-ninth street, was arrested and taken to the police station yesterday afternoon by Deputy City Sergeant C. C. Curtis.

The deputy went to Mr. Smith's home yesterday afternoon to levy upon his household goods, the firm of Reynolds Bros. having secured an attachment because it is alleged, Smith refused to pay his rent. Smith is said to have become obstreperous and Mr. Curtis had to place him under arrest before he could levy upon the furniture.

The prisoner was jailed by Justice Moss for his appearance in the police court tomorrow morning. G. A. Wiley was accepted as surety for $50.

Mr. J. H. Wheeler, employed by Reynolds Bros., secured the attachment against Smith. He says he went to the house yesterday to collect the rent and that he was greeted with a volley of oaths and refused admittance. He then went for the sergeant.

Not W. S. Upshur. In a list of Democratic committeemen, published in this paper yesterday morning, the name of W. S. Upshur appeared. It should have been R. W. Upshur, committeeman from the First ward.

SENATOR MARTIN AT THE ACADEMY

propositions he had succeeded in securing.

A Capacity for "Inaccuracy." "My competitor," said the speaker, "is something biased and besides his bias he has developed in this campaign a capacity for inaccuracy that has never been equaled in the history of the State."

"He says that if appropriations are all we want, we had better send a Republican to the senate. I would hardly have expected such an argument from a man who has held office under the Democratic party almost ever since he left his mother's arms."

Can't Live on Sentiment. The speaker declared that he had attempted to get for Virginia her part of "what was going." "I believe," said he, "that Southern statesmen have spent too much time talking about sentiment and the constitution."

Sentiment is all right, but it will not provide food for your family or raiment for your wife and children. "My opponent has seen fit to dwell upon other things than my record in the senate. He says that he knows that I was opposed to the Constitutional convention. He don't know what he is talking about. I voted for the Constitutional convention and worked for it."

In response to a question from Mr. Bickford, the senator said that the governor was violating the spirit of the Constitution in running for the senate, explaining that the Constitution provides that the governor shall not succeed himself and shall not be a candidate for another office during his term as governor. If it were not for the fact that the qualifications of a candidate for the United States senate are not affected by the laws of a State, the governor could not be a candidate for the office he is now seeking.

Didn't Sign Bills. The speaker said that the governor did not sign the bill creating the Corporation commission, allowing it to become a law without his signature. He went on to say that the governor did not have the courage of his convictions or he would either have signed or vetoed the measure. He also said that the governor did not sign the bill providing for the placing of a statue of General Lee in Statuary hall at Washington, on the ground that the bill was unnecessary, inexpedient and unwise.

"Why," asked the speaker, "didn't he veto it then? That's what he's there for isn't it, to veto unnecessary, inexpedient and unwise bills?" In answer to the charge that he had attacked the Corporation commission, the speaker said that he had merely stated that it was unfortunate that the president of that commission should have been interested in Corporations of the State.

Answering the charge that he had been opposed to the employers' liability bill, the senator said that this was another of his opponent's "inaccuracies," and that no man could show where he had ever done anything against this measure. Here he spoke of what he had done for the working man, saying that his heart always went out to the man who labored for his daily bread.

"My competitor," said the speaker, "should not go about the country talking about something which he knows nothing."

"Lying about it!" shouted some one in the audience. "I am still trying to be parliamentary," replied the speaker. "Will the working men," continued the speaker, "believe their own leaders, who say I have done everything I could for them, or will they believe my competitor, whose ambition has led him to such a state that accuracy is no longer to be found in his vocabulary."

After expressing his gratification at the presence of the ladies, Senator Martin concluded by saying that he had endeavored to conduct his campaign upon a high plane; that he wanted to win this fight upon his record and not by telling the people that his opponent was not fit to be sent to the senate.

Selling Pressure on Exchange Sharply Aggravated.

VERY LARGE VOLUME OF SALES

Shares Thrown on Market Cause a Slump and Some Wide Declines—Closing Was Weak and Active at Near Lowest.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, July 22.—The selling pressure in the stock market was aggravated sharply today and a large volume of sales came upon the market during the short session, resulting in some wide declines with the closing weak and active and near the lowest. The movement was attributed to the cumulative effect of growing uneasiness over the widespread reports of damage from rust in the spring wheat region, the discussion opened by the head of United Mine Workers of the coming struggle over the renewal of the agreement with operatives which expires next spring and the discouragement of advocates of higher prices over the failure of the week's favorable events to stimulate any demand for stock.

F. O. PIERCE COMPANY'S

VARNISH STAINS.

Every Household uses Varnish Stains.

That is why we have given our particular attention to their manufacture.

The first essential is a good Varnish—one that will dry, and not remain sticky after the Stain is applied.

Next in importance is Color—Color that is aglow with the beauty of costly woods, be it Mahogany, Walnut, Oak, Rosewood, Cherry, or what you will.

Any one can apply these Stains successfully.

To appreciate their beauty see specimen card.
